of the South Carolina
Vocational Rehabilitation Department

The South Carolina Vocational Rehabilitation Department offers paid and unpaid Internships in order to provide graduate students with valuable experience and exposure to the vocational rehabilitation program. Internships are encouraged with colleges and universities whose programs meet the requirement of the Comprehensive System of Personnel Development (CSPD) standards in order to maximize the department's opportunities to hire qualified graduates as Vocational Rehabilitation Counselors. The Internship experience consists of working hands-on with individuals with disabilities in providing an array of services that will result in the individual becoming gainfully employed.
